STATE OF VERMONT
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

HARVEY E. GOODELL
SECRETARY OF CIVIL & MILITARY AFFAIRS

Montpelier, Vt.,
October 10th, 1918.

A. Seixas, Esq.,
Care New York Tribune,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir:-

Two million of our best, our strongest and our most energetic citizens have already crossed the sea to carry American ideals and the Stars and Stripes, to victory. To support these men and women the united and unceasing labor of those who remain at home is necessary. Many of the employments formerly pursued by men alone have become common to men and women alike. As the War continues and even after peace comes, this condition must exist. The women of our Country have responded more patriotically than the men, to all the varied calls of War and they must and will continue to respond, so long as there is need. They are to be seen, filling the places of men in almost every industry. It must be the duty of the men to see that their fellow workers in the Great Cause receive the most chivalrous treatment, for they too carry on to victory and have not only sought new employment, but entered upon new lives. The man who labors for his Country, in her time of need, in any capacity, is a patriot. How much greater a patriot is the woman, who changes her whole life to labor for her Country and the Cause, but let her remember that "honest labor bears a lovely face".

Yours respectfully,

Horace F. Graham
Governor.
